

NoFoss Privacy Policy

At NoFoss we only use your contact information for the purpose that you have accepted.

Examples:

- We send you a newsletter that you have signed up for
- We list your name on the list of attendees of an event that you have registered for
- We reply to a request that you have submitted on the contact form of our website

We do not sell or pass your contact information on to others.

Newsletter

We use statistics on newsletters with the purpose of improving the newsletter and inform advertisers on the impact of advertising.

Events

If you register for an event, we use your contact information to make sure that you receive all relevant information about the event. When you register for an event at NoFoss you accept that we publish your name on a list of attendees.

In some cases, we may use your contact information to send you a survey with the purpose of evaluating the event.

Website

We use web statistics and cookies with the purpose of improving our website. We share statistical information with third party with the purpose of developing our website and business.

We delete your contact information

We delete your contact information, when we do not need it anymore. This means that we – as an example - will delete your contact information if you unsubscribe our newsletter.

The only exception is when legislation requires that we store information for a period of time.

Legislation

NoFoss is submitted to Danish legislation.
